

Women Publishing Entrepreneurs Wanted

With the experience of publishing nine different County Woman publications, I can confidently inform you that this is one of the most exciting, rewarding, and successful business ventures for women entrepreneurs in any part of the nation. I was originally born and raised in Minnesota, and I have lived on the West Coast and the East Coast and many states in between. Some of my past careers include being a National Insurance Account Executive, Retail Operations Manager, Certified New Jersey Teacher, and Teacher of the Year, but, of these, I have found being a County Woman Publisher to be the most gratifying on many levels. I guarantee that you will meet many incredible business owners and community leaders. Your publication will be the critical component in helping to launch a new business and/or successfully grow an existing business. The personal rewards are endless.

My five principles in my life are:

*Think * Learn * Try *
Work * Believe*.
Always enjoy
each minute
of your life!
